

Welcome Video
With Akihiko Nishio

Welcome to this massive open online course on unlocking investment and finance in emerging markets and developing economies.

This course reviews global efforts and innovations by the World Bank group and other multilateral development banks policymakers and international investors to unlock massive investment opportunities to achieve SDGs by two thousand thirty

It does this is how to unlock investment and finance of all kinds international domestic public and private including a hundred trillion dollars in assets under management by institutional investors globally. Through this course you will become a part of a growing global community looking to combine public resources with private and commercial finance to achieve the SDGS.

Thank you for taking the time to learn about unlocking investment and financing emerging markets in developing economies.